Title : Little Chick-Chick

Author : James H Fassett

Content :

The book is about a little chick. It wanted to eat acorn but the acorn choked in its throat. So, the mother hen asked a pond to give her some water. However, the water wanted a tree to make a cup to hold it. Then, the hen talked to a tree. The tree told a man to shake it. And off the hen went. The man needed a cobbler to make him new boots. The hen then talked to a cow for leather. The cow asked a farmer and the hen then. Finally, a good farmer gave the hen some grains. And she went back to the cow, the cobbler, the man, the tree and the pond. She finally could give the chick some water.

Reason for recommendation :

I like this story because it is funny. I cannot predict when the mother hen could get the water for her chick. It is also a meaningful story because it shows us how much a mother loves her child.
